

RISE UP AND SEE CLEARLY

“You do well when you pray to have all impurities removed from your being, for to have them removed here on Earth is a much less painful process than in purgatory. All imperfections must be burnt away, and the purification process must be completed.

No one can stand in front of Christ with the burdens of sin unexpiated, so all sin must be loosed, and all human failings must be forgiven; this includes all unrepentant sin after receiving salvation from Christ, and all curses associated with lineage, or the world. All must be shaken off, and one must stand in front of Christ in the form of purity.

You say that it is impossible to be perfect, but with God’s help nothing is impossible, and He is always there to help you up from your weakened human state to one of spiritual holiness; for He wants you to be in His Presence, yet this cannot be if you are not pure.

Be mindful of this challenge in everything that you do, and you will become accustomed to the pursuit of righteousness, and you will become more like Christ with every successful day. You will even find that it becomes a way of life, after sufficient time in transition.

Be sincere in all your pursuits, and always be sensitive to the leading of God; for He is always with you, even unto the end of the age.

To be in the curse is a feeling of uncleanness, for the curse defiles and does not edify—it denigrates. So as you rise up above the world and the evil therein, you gain purity just by disassociating yourself with it, and its influences on your body, mind, soul, and spirit. The world has nothing for you but pain and illusion, but God has all that is good waiting for you as you take your last breath.

Though you cannot see this you must believe, for faith is part of righteousness, and righteousness gives you a place in Heaven. Do not feel ashamed for believing in something that cannot be seen or touched, just know that the evidence for your faith is just as real as what you can touch; and everything that is good that you see and touch, testifies of the Presence of God—everything.

Do not feel that only a belief in science makes human sense, for science is simply the instrument by which the glorious package of creation is being opened, piece by piece and item by item. Science would be the pursuit of the understanding of chaos, if it were not for the perfection of The Creator. Each year that new discoveries are made, the testimony to the perfection and order of creation is enhanced; and this will continue until the end of time.

Science is the study of God's handiwork—never forget this, for it is Truth. When science goes off the tracks is when it is polluted by man's influences, or used to justify evil. For those who pervert science, there will be special punishment, as well as for those who use it to fulfill evil desires, or to build their self-idolatry and pride. Science should be approached with great reverence, for the end of it—is God's Mind.

Remember, all that is good is from God; be like God and you will not fail."
