

CREATION DAYS

"I have told you that there were many Earth years of inhabitants of the Earth prior to the time of man, and what happened to these creatures...this was another age. The age of man can be traced through the information given in the Word, and you can rely on it. There is no falsehood in the Word (God's original Word), before man began to interpret it in ways that God did not intend. The original Word is true.

Little is known by humans about the times before man, because there is little written about those times; and for the edification of man, not much can be derived from the previous era that relates to God's creation of the 'spirit beings'—Humans.

The Earth was created as all worldly bodies are created by God, and it starts in the Mind of God. After proving all relative to the Creation to Himself, He releases the elements to occupy space, and in this case...time.

Knowing that time would be a factor in the production and existence of the Earth, God set out a time frame in which to make the Earth and all on it, and in it. He called these 'days', not 24 hour days as man lives within, but 'creation days' which are much longer, if one equates the timeless realm to the realm of Earth that has time.

God could have equated this 'creation time' to the Earth time of man, but when this Word was given to the authors of the Old Covenant, they needed a reference by which to understand their God, and a reference that they could comprehend without God revealing more about the realms than He wished to reveal at that time.

Now here in the last days, knowledge has increased exponentially and God has chosen to reveal much more about His Word, and secrets of Heaven and Hell, and other realms that heretofore have not been known.

Faith has diminished with the increase in scientific knowledge, and Satan has been very busy convoluting the Word of God such that it appears to not be factual to the common person. He has infiltrated the schools and universities, and pulled a shade over the Truth such that it now appears to be fiction. This is why I now give you these new understandings and revelations of God's Plan, and His original creation.

The Earth indeed was created in specific steps as outlined in the Word, but these steps were not taken in 24 hour days, rather they were 'Days of Creation', and if you understood The Mind of God, you would agree that calling each step a day, is the perfect way of drawing humans to understand the fundamentals of this creation.

It also serves as an example to all creation that relates to current time, and times of the past, and human activities, and faith. When God created man He made them such that they would work to survive, and give order to their environments; however, the highest need that humans have is a need to praise and worship their Creator. Without this time set aside, God knew that His created 'creatures of will' would wander and not rise in their spirit, unless they had a dedicated time frequently to pursue their bond with God...thus the example of working six days and resting the seventh.

Do not be overcome by what seems to be inconsistencies in the Word, all have an appropriate answer, and all are in the order of the perfection of The Creator.

Take this wisdom to your heart."
