

THE PROCESS

“For your children, I will bless if they consider Me in all they do. When they are in My Will by considering Me, they are naturally blessed, and I have no need to create an environment where they must learn and beware...they simply function perfectly within My grace and My Plan.

When they are outside My Will, by not considering or by disobedience, or by allowing the world to overcome them, then I must correct and bring them back by mercy so that they again can function peacefully and successfully in My Will.

Being in My Will is like an eagle soaring in an updraft, effortlessly, freely, and going higher and higher. You too can be as the eagle in all areas of your life as you grow in the spirit, and go higher and higher towards The Face of God.

Notice during times in your life how things, circumstances, events, just seem to be all at adversity with you, and how you must struggle to do the smallest of tasks. This is because you are outside the Will of God, yet still have a heart for Him, thus you are in His Mercy; but you have no aid from Him in your day to day life.

If you were out of His Mercy you would be consumed by evil if out of His Will, and you may have experienced this as well—times when things seemed to go well and you were experiencing pleasures and perhaps even prosperity; but after these experiences faded to the past, you realized that you had been seriously harmed by them both physically and spiritually. These are times that make the spirits who have gone on before you weep for your failures, and pray that you emerge from the fog of evil, and the storms that it creates.

Being out of the Will of God as this also leads to times of expiation and penance, even if The Lord is graceful in completely forgiving you; for once you allow your robes to be soiled and torn, they must be washed completely clean, and in remorse repairing the tears, so that you again can stand before your God as a whole being, and not one who is weighed down by the scars and burdens of sin.

This is a truism and it never changes...not for anyone, for God's Laws are perfect and they are all executed in exactly the same way for all human beings. The circumstances may change for some, but the process is the same. There is a cost...a carefully calculated cost, then there is a payment...a carefully executed payment; and every sinner must pay the exact amount, in order to be back in balance with The Lord.

The Lord tells you in His Word that debt is like poison, well debt to sin is the same, for you must suffer to pay it; and even if there is forgiveness, the cost remains. Without the forgiveness of course, there is no payment; for payment cannot start until the sin is forgiven, otherwise the price keeps going higher and higher, and the penance cost continues up as well.

This is why you see so many very blessed people in the later stages of their lives who have no penance to pay—just blessings; for they had the wisdom not to sin when they were young, and the few times they did fall, they repented, were forgiven, and gracefully did their penance to pay for their indiscretions.

This is what you need to do no matter in what stage of life that you are in, just turn your life over such that it is in the Will of God, and offer your repentance, and your body and spirit over to the penance due for the past. Be diligent in this, and you will be in the middle of the path to your Father and a glorious eternity.

Take wisdom from this."
