

IN HEAVEN

“There are many realms in Heaven, and all who inhabit these realms have varying activities to occupy them. Some like to worship God and learn more about Him, and they go to their ‘God Rooms’ in their house; or if they do not have a house, they go to communal rooms where they can focus on God in worship, praise, and learning. All who want to draw closer to God and grow in the spirit, do this frequently.

Other popular activities involve Jesus, The Holy Mother, friends, relatives, and other creations in Heaven; and they are as diverse as the holy imagination. Some are active almost always, and some like quiet and peace; so as one enjoys, the opportunities are always there to pursue. Some have limitations on the degree or extent of the activities and the duration, because of their station in Heaven, but all are very happy and filled with love and wonderment.

Jesus is always available for counsel, communion, and learning, and He loves to be with all. The Holy Spirit graces all with His Presence, and passes by in all His Glory—and all are amazed; the Holy Mother gives comfort and care to all; and She, above all is there as a Mother to all.

All other glorified people are there to commune with, and if the realms correlate, one can see and speak with another; but if there is a great distance between the realms in holiness, one may not be able to but glimpse on another, because of an overwhelming that the one cannot tolerate. However, with study and growth in the spirit, the restricted one may be able to attain the full view of many more realms than what they do; and given enough growth, that one may see God.

In Heaven your schedule is truly yours, and you do as you choose—and since sin and the opportunity thereof is not present, all that you do is good and acceptable in the Mind of The Father. If you wish to visit a river, lake, ocean, (or the like) you may; if you wish to visit a far off heavenly body, you may if you are entitled; if you wish to see the many friends that you have in Heaven you may, simply by wishing this in your mind and spirit, and they will answer you in kind, and come when available; so the more friends that you have in Heaven, and there will be many, the more fellowship that you will have; and all will have special interests there, as they do here; and you then will have designated activities and such, that call to others when you wish to do them, and all who wish will come.

The types of activities in Heaven are not limited, the only limitation is on each soul and spirit, given the realms that they are able to inhabit; but none will be disappointed with what they can do, for they know all details of how they accumulated rewards while on Earth, and all are content with their place, and there is no envy for the love in Heaven overcomes all, and there is no place for sin.

So you ask, what will 'my' existence in Heaven be like? The answer is simply, whatever you wish it to be, for your options are so immense and diverse that you will never be able to experience all of it; and bear in mind that God will always create new and wonderful things for all there.

This can be your eternal future; do not fail to meet the requirements of your Father.

Obey in wisdom."
