

LOVE AND PERFECTION

“As you come into My presence...come in humility and love with no expectations, just for the holy communion with your Father. Meet Me in the spiritual and I will welcome you there, and We will exchange our love, and I will understand your heart and listen to you. I will weigh your supplications with My Plan and with all that comes to Me from all others on the Earth, then if justified—I will grant what can be granted for your aid and edification.

Many times, I will say mostly...your prayers will not be answered in exactly the way that you pray for, because of the complexity of the needs of all in your realm and the intercession of many others in other realms. But you may be assured if you are in the Will of God, that your prayers will be answered in the best way for you and all others involved in your requests.

The Mind of God is very different from yours no matter how intelligent, holy, righteous, and pure you are...for the Mind of God sees everything and considers everything before adjusting a situation; and as you know, when many varying options and factors are brought to a decision, the preponderance of the weight influences the final outcome. My interest is to always do what is best for you, and as such even if the answer to your prayers involves pain and difficulty for you, then it will be so; contrarily if you are in the Perfect Will of God and your ledger is clean and you are in a state that magnifies God, your answer will be blessings overflowing with all that is good from God.

He knows the final outcome of His blessings if the one receiving is in His Will, but if the person is still influenced by the world and evil, then the outcome is not known and the blessings therefore must be mitigated until the final outcome is sure. This illustrates again why the prayers of a righteous person avail much, for God can confidently bestow the very best blessings on that person and know that they will be used for the glory of God and the furtherance of His Kingdom.

Can you see why My Word implores and invites you to walk with God at all times? This is not hyperbole; you can actually walk with God step by step in every stage of your life if you are fully in His Will. You will have a spiritual connection that is so strong, that it will spill over into the physical realm as if His Presence is always with you. Indeed God is everywhere, but only those who are in His Perfect Will experience His Presence in the physical realm, and this is the way that God intended for all His creations to live.

Do you recall when God walked in the garden with Adam? Nothing has changed since then other than the curse, but you can overcome the curse by your will and by every choice to glorify God that you make—and by this you literally draw close to God even to the point of being in His Spiritual Presence. This is how life was structured, and God made it so. When He created all, He had many options as to how He would lay the foundation of life, and He knew that He would exist forever, and any creation that He made, if it had eternal molecules, would also live forever; so He wanted the best communion for He and you—so He chose a foundation of love and perfection, thus you play your part in this as such as you rise to meet your Creator, now and in eternity.

Be yea perfect.”
