

LOVE ALWAYS

“Love is the foundation for all that exists, and to be outside the frames of love is to be outside God’s Plan for all creation and for you. Without love, you cannot go to the heavenly realms, and without love, you will not grow in your spirit such that you rise in your knowledge of God; and without increased knowledge of God you cannot commune with Him in a way that pleases Him.

He wants that you be diligent in your pursuit of Him, and He wants you to hold His Hand as you walk through life. This cannot be accomplished without love, for love also is a large component of faith, for both emerge from the same area of your spirit and both are necessary for salvation.

Why would God create beings in this manner; does it not seem to be incongruous with physical life? It is the mechanism that raises one out of the physical and into the spiritual that faith and love represent, for they are not physical, rather they are spiritual. It is God’s way of creating within you a way to reach out to Him, yet in a way that requires belief in something that cannot be seen or heard, thus causing the being to reach beyond the walls of the physical and beyond the physical limitations—to the realm of God. He loves it when His creations are proactive in their relationships with Him, for this exhibits love; and love is the clear, true, and trustable foundation to all creation.

Something as simple as love you say, how can it be the foundation? I tell you if love did not exist, neither would you...and certainly not your free will; for God, if He did not love, would simply have made all to serve Him as what you call robots. He then would have not complications with sin and disobedience, sickness, harm, inequity, and the list can go on and on. But for the element of love that allows one to willfully accept or reject holy love, thereby as in the acceptance being ‘Supreme Holy Love’, makes it a much higher level of communion and existence.

God is far above all, yet in His Love He wishes that all would be as He is...this is perfect love and supreme benevolence, for He has what all creation wants—and He is all in all. Who would not want omnipresence, omnipotence, and the ability to create? He is willing to share this with His creations, but in order to do this on a sufficiently high basis, He had to integrate

'true choice love' which by its very nature is real, and not simply inculcated within the being and activated whenever The Creator wished it to be.

No other foundation would have been true or synchronous for a perfect and benevolent Being who has never exhibited characteristics of an evil tyrant, although some of His creations became such as they perverted the power of choice that was freely given them, and who wished to put themselves above others by their will, which God never intended be done by any creation. He set things in motion originally such that all would live in harmony with one another with a covering of love, and it was beautiful. But with the knowledge of good and evil and a misunderstanding of the punishment for disobedience—evil became predominant.

Oh that those in Hell, could cry out to the evil and disobedient ones on Earth, and warn them of the end of evil; but their realm is closed and nothing can be let out other than the visions given by God to a few prophets who God trusts will pass this very important warning on to all people. Hell is real, and beyond your wildest imaginations.

Live in love and truth always, and you will be saved.

This is another lesson in Truth that you must believe and accept."
