

BE WARNED

“When the fall season arrives most of the world prepares for the change as the weather changes, and the typical events occur thereby necessitating some change in schedule in order to put all to rest and prepare for the next season. It has been this way since the Great Flood, and all have gotten used to the rhythm and routine.....this is what humans expect—and this is what helps them to feel secure in what they do, in what they see, and what they do not see.

Predictability allows much freedom in the sustenance of life and allows one to think that the tomorrows will be similar to the yesterdays...and this helps humans to feel self-reliant and reliant also on their group of suppliers who allow them to maintain their routines of life, and as the circle of sustenance continues to function, all are content and expectations stay consistent. This self-reliance is one of your modern day phenomena that has come with plenty.....a plenty that has been supplied by The Creator, and by the systems that The Creator put into place many years ago, so that humans would be stable in their existences and free to worship, praise, and thank The Creator, for the provisions that sustained all life.

Recently however, you have begun to see cracks in this structure, inconsistencies in nature, and in usual patterns of the environment. Satan will have you to believe that it is all caused by the influences of the carbon cycle, but truly this is only a minor factor in the swings in seasonal weather patterns. The influence behind these inconsistencies is The Creator, and for all who know His Word, they understand why and when these events happen and they know how they will occur in the future...it has all been foretold. It is God’s Plan, and although it has been affected by the input of the very righteous, now the final stage of the Plan is in action and will not be interrupted again.

You who do not believe this, will have it proven to you over the next years to come as you witness these unusual swings become more and more dramatic, leading to many unexpected outcomes that are quite uncomfortable for humans. Then as you think that things cannot get much worse, these events will get far more dramatic, to the point where in some areas of the world it will not be possible to predict the seasons and the crops will not produce their fruit for human consumption.

The weather will swing from extremely hot and dry to extremely cold and wet in many places of the world thereby making routine existence very difficult, and this will shake the confidence of some and will even cause some unbelievers to consider, and come to The Creator for answers and salvation. Yet and as the Word teaches, these dire times will not stop, they will just get worse as the Creator of All begins to cleanse the world of evil and sin—as He shocks humans out of their self-sufficient mindset and as He pushes them to realize their insignificance and vulnerability.

For as more realize that these events are out of their control, and that there are other forces far greater than they who control the events of the Earth...many will come to their Creator for reunification and salvation, and this is The Plan as is laid out in the Word, for God wants as many as possible to come to Him and be saved; for after their time on Earth is done they will go (in their eternal form) ultimately to one place or the other—Heaven or Hell; and The Father in His Mercy wishes none to fail. These painful events of the near future therefore are necessary for the ultimate good and they must occur, because too many at this point in history are being lost to the greatest evil of all times, and God will not have it any longer.

Come early to your Father, and you will escape some of which is to come. Be warned and be diligent in your pursuit of The Creator.”
