

FOLLOW THE SIGNS

“You indeed are worthy to relay My Word to a dying world. It is My wish that all on your planet know that it will not sustain life for much longer. It is My wish that all people and all inhabitants of the Earth know that they should be making their final preparations for physical death and the move to the realms of hereafter.

No one wants to hear that their home is being taken from them, but truly it is not; a child of God had residence with The Father prior to the short stay on the Earth and it is The Father’s hope that all His children will return home, glorified and ready to receive all the gifts that He has been preparing for them. This is God’s Plan and this is why all spirits were sent to this cursed planet...with the hope of passing the test, then moving on to their permanent home in a much better state than what they were in before physical existence. It was in love that The Father allowed his children spirits to choose to go to the Earth, and it is with love that He will accept them back—if they have been true to Him and His Word.

When all humans were developed, they were all created with full capabilities of succeeding in their physical life, passing all tests, and conquering sin and Satan’s influences; and all humans innately know this and their ‘inner being’ tells them of The Father and tells them of the courage that they have and when to exercise it to avoid sin. The ‘inner being’ also knows the path back to God clearly and the roadmap is unmistakable in its instructions to humans, and it all points to God’s Word as the road signs that safely lead one home.

Just like any road sign in a dangerous environment...it is of the utmost importance to see it, remember it, and abide by it closely and carefully. This is precisely how you should and need to approach your learning of God’s Word. Any infraction can result in ending on a road that ends sharply and allows for no back tracking, just remorse. God’s Word is the Law of the Road, it is the instruction book on successfully navigating the path back to God and it is the only way.

His road signs are not dubious and they are easy to read and even a child can understand them. Make no mistake, if you ignore the signs of the road you will go your own course and all human roads lead to destruction or to a land of the lost...this is the way that the Covenant and the Laws were written and they are perfect and not subject to change based on time, human perception, changing morals and mores, nor anything else. These signs have been set up, driven deeply into the ground and cemented in with the divine materials of God and they cannot nor will they ever change.

You may change your shoes, your political party, your home, your friends, your job, or anything else in the power of human action; but you will never change even one of God's Laws, nor one letter of His Word—so you must know it and you must follow it with strict obedience. This should be the very highest priority of your life now and until you take your last breath, because nothing else has any influence on your eternal existence after this short testing period.

Have I made this clear? It is out of love, that We The Trinity do not want any of you to fail for We know the costs of failure and We know the magnificent rewards for success...believe Us...We know you, We made you, We made where you live, and We made the Plan under which you exist.

Turn to the Truth and follow the path back to God."
