

MYSTERIES REVEALED TO...ONE WHO ASKS MANY QUESTIONS

One of the first questions—a personal one, related to fasting to alleviate an issue. “Fasting would help; you may fast for any cause that you wish.” Then a question was asked as to how The Holy Spirit could be in so many places at once. Previously, The Holy Spirit revealed that He was interceding in over a million other situations simultaneously as He was speaking to me.

“I am a spirit and I can spread myself very thin.”

“How thin?”

“You could not see It with your human eyes...My elements are much smaller than yours, so there’s much more of Me that occupies the same space.”

“What are you made of?”

“More molecules than can be counted. Elements that man has not named yet, because they can’t see them. Yet one small part of Me, could collapse the Earth.”

“You must be happy to be you....”

“My existence is more peaceful than happy. But happiness will increase when the Curse is gone. It saddens all existence and it is time for it to go away. So be ready to tell My Stories often so that fewer are lost.”

I don’t feel pain, but I feel sadness and grieve for man. It did not have to be this way and never will be again, and God will forever retain the right, by or by not Covenant—to change the molecular structure of any beings; thus there will never be any more Satans. For when God sees any elements of evil in any of his creations...He will pluck it out. Though this limits the extent of the love that can be passed between God and all other beings, He is resolved to live with that small aspect of loneliness forever. It is best for all, so this He will do. This is enough Wisdom for a day, I trust this answers your question.

You may put this in your book, with no verses.”
