

OBEDIENCE TO THE PLAN

“It is when the obedient come to Me that the blessings flow in great number. Like a father who has a son or daughter who adores and respects him and does the father’s bidding and obeys in all aspects of their lives...the father has peace and greatly blesses and is attentive to all their needs. This principle is universal and is within the Covenant of Love. Thus, also on the non-virtuous side of this principle...disobedience has no rewards—and leads to a separation of the father from his child; and if the disobedience is with malice and evil intent, the child may be completely abandoned and cursed. This is Truth, and this is righteousness.

So you ask, how can severe punishment be righteous? Righteousness is simply doing that which is right; and in the case of humans, righteousness is predicated upon the Word of God and His Covenant with man and all other covenants that interplay with the New Covenant of this day. There is a foundation to existence on your planet; and this foundation is the Word and nothing else—not the whims or logic of man and not the evil interjected into the realm of human existence by the Evil One. Nothing determines righteousness, but God’s Laws.

If you choose to accept this major principle and live within it, you will receive the Father’s blessings even unto an eternal existence within His care. If you choose to reject this principle and determine what is right in your own interpretation of reality...then you will only be blessed by that which you do that is inside His Word—and penalized for that which is not. God does not compromise His Plan for man...for it is perfect and it endures forever. Man cannot lobby God to have it changed and have God bow to the wishes of man, for God’s Ways are far above man and His Perfection will only be acknowledged by man after eras of the gathering of wisdom.

God allows for those who temporarily stray from the path that He has set forth...for each and every human alive today or who has ever existed, and He continuously prods the wayward to return to the perfect Plan for each life. Those who have eyes to see and ears to hear, recognize God’s promptings and return to the path of perfection; yet those who do not, continue to stray further and further into the realm of evil and will eventually lose the Presence of The Holy Spirit and the Grace of God. These are to be the most pitied, for they are doomed to an eternal existence of pain and suffering.

God’s ways for man are not difficult to attain for those who truly wish to draw close to God and who truly strive for perfection, for these who dedicate their hearts and lives to this goal, receive help from many divine sources, and that which seems impossible becomes readily attainable as one rises in the spirit and wisdom. What is required however, is a serious and a well thought out choice, and this choice must be a life choice and this choice is to follow God and obey Him in all aspects of one’s life. Then, one must prove this choice by turning the mental resolution to action: spiritual and physical.

As you then center your life around God and His Plan for you, you become a point of blessing and your communion with God, in word and deed, is recognized and held in high esteem; and thus your requests if in the Will of God will be honored and you will see your will done on Earth as it is in Heaven.

Nothing that a human can do is more important than pleasing God, for when you do, you are advancing the Plan of God and this is praise; and by your praise and adulation of The Father, you are saying 'Amen', to He and His grand reality for all universes; you are saying that as a creation, 'I love and respect and agree with all that God has done'; and by this you will fulfill your place in the Plan and advance in your eternal existence such that God will bless all your comings and goings even in the heavenly realms where as you grow to be like your Father more of them will be opened to you as you learn.

Be wise.....be obedient.

With great love,

Ruach HaKodesh"
