

THE HOLY PRIEST

“What is it that a man of God is to do...how is he to serve The Lord and the people to whom he has been entrusted with the custodianship of their souls, spirits, minds, and bodies? There is much direction given in The Word and in the books of history that have documented exactly what The Creator expected and demanded that His holy ones perform for the welfare and edification of all.

Certainly there were the ceremonial acts that the priest performed, then there was the public display of righteousness, holiness, and purity—for a good man of God lives what he teaches and displays to all who look to him the qualities that God expects all men to have in order to gain Heaven and the blessings thereof. Without the witness, the words fall to the ground as hollow shells of that which once lived, but lives no more. The priest is expected to display life and life eternal, for this is the goal of all God’s creations, to be in constant communion with The Father and to grow in spirit to be as He is....perfect in every aspect of His Being.

The Father wishes for all to be perfect, for this is the greatest gift that humans can render to Him and this edifies Him such that nothing else can; and He loves to bless His children for their acts of obedience, for He is a Good Father, one that is the essence of love; and it was for the sake of love that he created all beings on Earth and He gave a special place to those who lead His flocks; and along with this comes great responsibility and duty, for these are the hands and feet and the oracles of The Father and these are the ones who can help through their platforms to save souls and to return God’s children to Him and to help to protect the weak and feeble of body and spirit from the wiles of the devil.

As such, God’s leaders will receive great blessings for all the good that they do, but conversely will receive great curses for severe disobedience and immediate rebuke for all sin, which requires penance unequal to the sin, for the sin of one looked upon to be holy has a great ripple effect and this can go on for generations. The holy priest then, must truly be holy in the Eyes of God and not just in the eyes of man, for God sees the heart and hears all the thoughts and knows all the intentions of man, and His holy ones are held to the highest standards of the Covenant with man, for one who is to be holy by ordination to fall...is a great fall indeed...and one that can easily cause one to lose the promise of Heaven.

For a holy one to sin is like one who has been saved by grace and sacrifice to then again fall back into sin, for this is repugnant to God; for in these acts is the mocking of the Supreme Truth and that of the very act of Creation. God is not to be mocked, but only to be revered, feared, loved, praised, worshipped, and idolized, such that the creation strives only to be like its Father. This will be the holy and eternal path of all who are of the saved...they will grow forever to be as their Father, Who art in Heaven.

Now on a more personal note, yes John, you are to exhibit all the qualities of holiness, righteousness, and purity to all including your Father; and He will bless all that you have your hand in. As you do this, your Parish will grow in numbers and in spirit and in truth and many in the community who see you as a faithful servant will bless you with their time, talents, and monetary support. All people who have not been turned over to their own delusions desire to see Truth displayed in human terms, for this world has gotten so dark and so deeply into sin, that the true beacons of light are now looked to for one's very existence and the justification of such.

Be that beacon of hope to all who come to you and do not hesitate to reach out to your community, for all men are looking for truth and the meaning thereof and much more so as the Earth enters the Time of Trouble soon. Be God's strength on Earth and be that 'touch stone' for all who rely on you...be a good and faithful child of The Supreme Father.

With love and blessings,

Ruach HaKodesh"
